COW POKES

By Ace Reid

Ain't no use agoin' to look at that pasture. Jist sit down and watch it go by!

Famed cartoonist Ace Reid adds a bit of humor to the otherwise unhumorous drought situation now gripping the Panhandle in his cartoons. This Cow Pokes is furnished through the courtesy of Canyon's West Texas State Bank.

They're the original dirty jokes

It takes a dry wit to find humor in a drought

"For three years we have heard nothing but 'America is fundamentally sound.' It should have been 'America is fundamentally cuckoo.' The worse off we get the louder we laugh, which is a great thing." — Will Rogers.

It's no laughing matter, of course, when you can count on one hand the number of raindrops which have fallen in Randall County since late August.

And, anyway you look at it, jokes about drought or lack of rain or dry weather, given the vivacious, blustery spirit of Mother Nature's Panhandle province, are bound to be dirty.

Nevertheless, where there is despair, there, too, is laughter, and a lot of relatively unfunny, but slightly humorous, jokes about the dryness of the Panhandle particularly during drought periods remain from decade to decade in the minds of local jokesters, hidden away during years of moisture only to be found again and dusted off for retelling when the clouds elude pasture and croplands.

Those stale jokes are showing up again all over town, a sure sign that either the drought is about to end or that it's getting so bad all you can do is laugh.

One of the oldest around is quick from the tongue of County Judge Woody Pond when you walk into his office and inquire about the weather:

"Heck," he says, "It's so dry I've got to prime myself to even spit."

Not exactly a knee-slapper, but a picturesque example of the old saying that nine-tenths of the people in this country couldn't start a conversation if the weather didn't change once in a while.

Or there's this anecdote from Dr. Allen Early, an economist who has about as much to be optimistic about as do wheat farmers:

"Did ya hear the one about the old farmer who had already abandoned this wheat crop and accosted one of his neighbors down on the square one day?

"I'm taking bets of a hundred dollars it'll never rain again," the elder farmer said.

"That's crazy," said the other.

"Not so," the first said. "Six have already paid off."

Or, have you heard the one about the two Panhandle residents who were talking one day down on the square when a vacationer came up? As related by Mrs. Chris Thomas, it goes something like this:

The two Panhandle men were discussing the long drought and the vacation-er couldn't help but overhear their lament.

"Does it ever rain here?" the vacationer asked.

"Remember the big flood in the Bible," responded one of the locals, and the vacationer answered in the affirmative.

"Well," said the local, "we got a half-inch then."

Drought jokes, as you can tell, are about as funny as drought itself. But it seems there's no dearth of the humor.

Take the joke about the visitor to a drought-stricken Panhandle who was discussing the situation with a local store owner.

"You think the drought is bad here," said the store owner, "but down south of here a ways they haven't had any rain for so long that the Baptists are sprinkling, the Methodists are using a damp cloth and the Presbyterians are issuing rain checks."

Or the one about the two farmers out in the Panhandle who were sitting around discussing the drought. One of them was lucky enough to harvest some wheat.

"The drought sure has made the wheat short this year," he said to his companion.

"Short?" the companion responded. "Say, I had to lather mine to mow it."

Of course, the mere fact that people can laugh in even the most austere situations is indicative of a certain basic optimism in the hardy Panhandle variety, an optimism which is itself reflected to an extent in some of the jokes now making the rounds.

Like the one about the motorist who pulled up at a Panhandle town service station.

"Everything looks very dry," he remarked to the attendant. "When did it rain last?"

"Bout three years ago," the old-timer estimated.

"Must be very hard on the farmers and ranchers around here," the motorist consoled.

The old-timer shook his head. "I don't know what we're coming to," he said. "We've sunk thousands of wells drilling for water and what do we come up with? Oil."

Or there's the optimistic prediction quoted by John Childs who says it came from a bonafide Canyon old-timer:

"At the end of every

Canyon named growth center

Canyon, Amarillo and a corridor along each side of Interstate 27 between the two cities have been designated as growth centers by the Economic Development Administration, a move which officials say opens the door to federal funding for business and industrial development.

Congressman Jack High-tower's office announced the designation Monday, just three days after it was announced that the Panhandle area included in the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission has been designated an economic development area by the federal agency.

Both designations were the result of three years of work by PRPC officials.

PRPC Executive Director George Louder said Monday EDA officials will meet in Canyon with local industrial, civic and governmental leaders during the week of March 29 to discuss the impact of the designation.

City Manager Glen Metcalf indicated Monday he's not sure what programs the city might be eligible for under the EDA, but would study program possibilities along with funding requirements to determine how Canyon might benefit from the designation.

New Programs Possible

Louder has said in the past that growth center designation would give the city the opportunity to enhance the city's opportunities for industrial development. Funding might be available, he has said, for preparation of an industrial park.

The EDA program, according to information provided by Louder, involves three basic thrusts—technical assistance, grants for public works and development facilities, and business development assistance.

The purpose of the technical assistance program, the information says, is to solve problems and remove road blocks in the way of economic growth.

"Technical assistance provides information, data, and know-how in evaluating and/or shaping specific projects and programs in economic development," a brochure from EDA says. "Many technical assistance projects consist of feasibility studies of how to combine natural, human, and other resources in a variety of productive enterprises. Still others are designed to strengthen and support organizations working to produce jobs and improve economic opportunities."

Technical assistance services can be accomplished either by EDA officials themselves or through a grant to the local government or organization.

Public Works Grants

Probably the program which holds the most possibilities for Canyon is the public works and development facilities grant program through EDA

Eligible projects in designated areas may receive grants up to 50 per cent of total eligible project costs. In addition, supplementary grants for eligible projects are available. Loans through EDA are also available.

Examples of projects eligible for funding through the EDA program include:

* Industrial park development, such as utilities, streets and access roads.

* Water and sewer facilities primarily serving industrial and commercial users.

* regional airports;

* tourism facilities that are an integral and essential part of a comprehensive tourism complex to be developed by a state agency or a qualified non-profit organization with past involvement in tourism;

* and other facilities to stimulate economic development.

Meeting today to discuss plans

Leaders set sights on industry

Canyon civic leaders will meet today to organize a united effort to seek industry for Canyon.

Members of the board of the chamber of commerce, the Canyon Industrial Foundation, and the chamber industrial committee are to meet at 3:30 p.m. at the community center to discuss possible industrial promotions and to organize.

Today's meeting is the outgrowth of recent renewed interest in industrial growth by the chamber of commerce President Don Johnston, who had scheduled the discussion for a chamber board meeting two weeks ago. That session, however, was postponed when Johnston came down with the flu.

At that time, Johnston indicated he desired renewed discussions concerning attracting industry to Canyon.

Other civic leaders contacted also indicated an interest in reviving industrial promotions.

A key item of discussion at today's session is expected to be the recent designation of Canyon as a growth center within the newly-created economic development area of the Panhandle. The designation was announced Monday by Congressman Jack High-tower.

Designation of the city as a growth center by the Economic Development Administration could lead to federal funding of various industry-related projects, according to George Louder, executive director of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

In the past, the chamber board has been involved only to a limited extent in industrial development.

The Canyon Industrial Foundation was formed several years ago to help finance industrial development, but it has not functioned for a number of years.

It takes a lot of mothering for Mrs. James E. Simpson and Zulu to raise their eight kids. Zulu's one day old brood includes three billies and one nanny while the Simpson

County jail won't meet state standards

The Randall County jail couldn't meet the old standards and now, say Sheriff Cliff Longest and Deputy Merle Strickland, the jail can't meet the new standards, either.

"There's no way," Longest said Tuesday after reviewing published standards which are to take effect in April as written by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

"I don't know if there's a jail in Texas that can comply," Strickland said, echoing words he's mouthed before when discussing possible standards for jail facilities.

New standards for existing jails were published last week in the Texas Register. They are to be approved by the state commission on April 11 and will go into effect 20 days following the date of approval.

The new standards do provide for the commission to grant variances for jails which cannot meet the standards and Longest and Strickland indicated they will study the rules before considering application for variances to the standards.

The standards also put teeth in laws which have been on the Texas books for years but which lacked enforcement procedures to such an extent that when the Randall County jail was constructed twenty years ago it did not meet the legal standards. Legislation passed last year creating the new commission on jail standards gave the commission the authority to close down any jails which do not meet the standards promulgated by the commission.

Strickland and Longest contend that strict enforcement of the new standards for Randall County's facility could double the cost of operations of the jail.

Commentary published last week along with the new standards indicates the commission may take lenient stance on some jails.

"It is the intent of the commission not to require an impossible timetable for compliance, but rather to give all affected counties the opportunity to obtain variances or comply with the rules being promulgated within a reasonable period of time," the commentary says.

The executive director of the commission may grant variances where he determines that:

* strict compliance would cause unusual practical difficulties and hardships, and

* the exception meets the intent of the rules and would not seriously affect the security or supervision of inmates, established programs, or the safe, healthful, or efficient operation of the facility.

If a variance is requested, it must be done in writing and must include justification for the exception and must document the claim that the exception meets the intent of the rule and will not jeopardize the security or supervision of inmates, established programs or the safe, healthful, or efficient operation of the facility.

Those standards which might most radically affect the current jail operation require:

* A jail housing inmates confined in excess of 30 days shall have an enclosed exercise area.

* Day rooms shall be provided for all cells, compartments, and dormitories for sleeping purposes which accommodate three or more inmates.

* Single (one-person) cells or rooms shall contain not less than 40 square feet of floor space. Single cells shall comprise not less than 30 per cent of the total inmate capacity of the facility.

* Cells, compartments, dormitories, and day rooms for the accommodations of more than one inmate shall contain

Rim residents eye organization

A group of Sunday Canyon residents met recently to consider forming a homeowners association to provide the canyon-rim community with services such as road maintenance, fire protection and trash collection.

The idea is still in an early stage, said Marvin Standifer, who developed the housing area, and may not materialize.

"I don't know what course the discussions will take," he said.

Also, a resident said that some of the property owners in the subdivision were not notified of the meeting.

Standifer said discussion included sale of the private water system to the property owners, forming a volunteer fire department and trash collection.

Standifer said he has recently purchased from Wildorado a jeep equipped to fight grass fires and that Herman Moore, a Sunday Canyon property owner, is heading a committee to form a fire-fighting group.

The Canyon settlement includes about 15 permanent residents and about 30 vacation homes. The Canyon volunteer fire department provides most of the fire protection.

The Sunday Canyon water system is one of the few rural water systems built without any federal funds, Standifer said.

"We're real proud of this system," he said. "We think it's one of the best small systems around here."

Finding fresh water on the rim of the canyon was a problem, Standifer said. The system includes three deep wells into the Teacher leader hits pay plans

The president of the Randall County Unit of the Texas State Teachers Association said Monday he voted against a resolution the state convention passed last weekend calling for a $14,000 per year base salary for Texas teachers.

Herman Demus, who teaches at Canyon Junior High School, was one of two delegates from the local teacher unit to attend the state TSTA convention over the weekend.

Demus said "there'd be no chance of that ever happening," referring to the likelihood that legislators would approve a $14,000 base pay scale for teachers.

"Right now the maximum for teachers with a master's degree is slightly under $14,000," he said. "Base pay is $8,000 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience."

Demus said the resolution, which passed TSTA convention approval, calls for a $15,000 per year starting salary for teachers with masters degrees and no experience.

"We'd like to see this but there's absolutely no chance of that ever happening," he said.

During the last legislative session, the TSTA pushed for a base pay for teachers of $10,000 per year.

Demus said he and Penny Allen went to the convention uncommitted on the various resolutions which came up for consideration. The local unit of TSTA met last week and determined to

Griffin eyes county funds paid for veterans service office

Randall County Commissioner Dee Griffin, who has become a kind of watch-dog of the county budget, zeroed in Monday on the funds paid by the county to support a veterans service officer who operates out of Potter County.

Griffin was appointed by County Judge Woody Pond during a regular commission meeting Monday to meet with Potter County officials to negotiate for a new payment formula for the officer.

He indicated he will meet with Potter County officials and will ask that Ray Cliver, the veterans service officer, maintain for several months a detailed record of Randall County veterans aided by his office.

Commissioners had earlier asked for Cliver to justify the funding he draws from Randall County and they reviewed his summary Monday.

In the report, Cliver indicated he had made no effort to determine which of the more than 100 persons he interviewed since Nov. 1, 1975 are from Randall County. He said he had filed 118 claims for veterans during the period and estimates he interviews 10 persons for every claim filed.

Randall County, originally involved in payment for the veterans service officer in July 1973, now pays 37.5 per cent of the office expenses for the officer, who is located in the Potter County courthouse.

Currently, the county pays $685 per month as its part of the office support. According to Cliver's report, the office expenses for one month total $1683.

Griffin said Monday support of Cliver might amount to more than a duplication of services since Canyon has a veterans service officer — Roland Black — and a similar officer is stationed at the Veterans Administration hospital in Amarillo.

In other business Monday, commissioners delayed decisions on a new personnel policy for Randall County employees and on a request from P.D. Wheeler for construction of a dirt road in a small development area near the Georgia, McCormick Road intersection.

Wheeler told commissioners he had deeded right-of-way for two roads in the small subdivision to the county last year and the county had provided construction of one dirt road. He asked they consider providing the other.

However, Commissioner John Fulgenzi, in whose precinct the project lies, took a hard line on the road and told Wheeler he should build the road himself.

He suggested that under the county's subdivision road policy it is a developer's responsibility to provide roads.

Likewise, Commissioner Paul Lindsey warned that cutting the road for Wheeler might set a dangerous precedent for the future. But, Lindsey said, because the county had already cut one road in the development, it might be obligated to go ahead and cut the other road.

Commissioners approved the purchase of two new electronic calculators for the county tax office reappraisal effort and the lease of a new electric typewriter for the county treasurer's office.

A trip to Houston to attend a national district attorney's trial techniques seminar was okayed for Assistant Dist. Atty. Dean Roper.

Mrs. James E. Brandon and Mrs. B. Wayne Daniell of Amarillo were guests and Mrs. Brandon presented the program of slides accompanied by recorded narration. Graphic statistics were shown that important state and national officials are not elected by a majority of the American people because a very small percentage of voters are concerned enough to go to the polls.

During an informal discussion period Mrs. Daniell and Mrs. Brandon spoke on many phases of pending federal legislation vital to the welfare of children

Wallace to head ballot in Democratic primary

Former Alabama governor George Wallace will have the number one spot on the Randall County Democratic ballot in the presidential preference primary May 1.

Ballot positions were chosen and a primary committee appointed at the county Democratic executive committee meeting at the courthouse here Monday night.

Jimmy Carter, frontrunner in other primaries among Democratic candidates, will have the second ballot position and Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen, who has withdrawn from other primaries, will be listed third.

The presidential candidates will be represented on the ballot by delegates. The voters get three choices, and, according to Democratic county chairman Marion George, votes can be given to all three delegates of a single candidate or can be split among the candidates.

Delegates for George Wallace are Bill Dwight and Beckey Motley of Amarillo and Ruben F. Brock of Littlefield. Carter's delegates are David R. Matthis of Canyon, V.P. Perry of Amarillo and Mary Simpson of Gray. Delegates for Bentsen include Max Sherman of Amarillo, Jeanne Spears of Levelland and Jim Lovel of Dumas.

Bentsen will have the first position on the ballot in the U.S. senatorial race, leading Phil Gramm, Leon Dugi and Hugh Wilson.

Eight candidates will be included on the ballot for railroad commissioner. They are Terence L. O'Rourke, Jerry Sadler, R.R. Williams, Robert "Bob" Wood, Woodrow Wilson Bean, David Finney, Jon Newton, Lane Denton.

In other races, ballot positions drawn were, Charles W. Barrow first and Don Yarbrough second for associate justice of the state supreme court; Truman Roberts first and Jerome Chamberlain second for court of criminal appeals; Jim Christopher first and Bob Henry second for county commissioner, precinct 3.

Chosen for the primary committee were Bruce, R.B. Cleland, Helen Hallaway, and Don McPherson.

"Our subdivision has no municipal taxes, no dues, no other source of revenue," he pointed out. "These rates are intended, in addition to supporting the system, to provide such services as we need."

Chef Don Broughton, his wife Lia, and manager, Judy Torczon have over 98 years combined experience in the restaurant business, and invite the public to come in and dine at Canyon's best.

"Judy's" is redecorated with the entire family in mind: An attractive dining room with live piano music for adults; for children, a fun-to-watch gold fish pond; and for everyone—distinctive family dining.

Formerly President Truman's personal chef, Don and Lia are eager to serve Canyonites their special recipes—like Tropical Ham Steak, Fresh Colorado Mountain Trout, Breast of Chicken Espanola, Plantation Bean Soup; sandwiches, like The Reuben and French Dip; appetizers and desserts, featuring Don's super-delicious Holland Cheese Cake.

It's a treat for the whole family and at affordable prices.

The War of Independence, 1976, is being waged in many homes. It's the conflict between Back-To-Basics cooking (including bread, baking, canning and natural foods) and the ever increasing trend of women, many with families, returning to the work force.

Ring the Liberty Bell for home minutemen mixes. Mixes are popular with so many cooks because they help get food on the table in less time. Mixes fit right in with the needs of homemakers today. They enable busy people to still make homemade cookies, tasty corn meal products, in only minutes.

When there is time, perhaps on a weekend, try these basic mix recipes. Another important factor — the cost savings in preparing these mixes has convinced many economy minded people to make their own.

From the homemade oatmeal mix you can whip up batches of Vanilla drops, Chocolate rounds, and Toffee bars.

Or from the basic 'Homemade corn meal mix' stir up such old fashioned treats as Corn bread, Corn muffins, or Corn meal griddlecakes.

Fund to aid agriculture
established for donors

To financially assist agriculture students and West Texas State University agriculture endeavors, the Agriculture Development Association and the WTSU School of Agriculture has established a tax-deductible
Agriculture Development Fund.

Through contributions to the fund, the Board of Directors of the association plans to raise $350,000 over the next 10-year period, according to Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of agriculture.

The school uses funds to find part-time employment for students, to provide scholarships, student loans, funds for research, grants and travel for students and faculty, according to Dr. Ray Hinders, association president.

For public service purposes, the WTSU School of Agriculture sponsors meetings, holds contests, judges livestock shows, provides speakers and other services not supplied by state funds.

Donations may be made in the form of cash, property endowments or trusts.

In 1975, donations to the fund provided 42 scholarships totaling $8,400. Approximately 80 per cent of the school's graduates
established a tax-deductible
Agriculture Development Fund.

Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Smallwood at Box 755, WT Station, Canyon, Texas 79016.

Geology prof's paper given

Dr. Gerald Schultz, professor of geology at West Texas State University, presented a paper at the Texas Academy of Science annual meeting recently at Texas A&M University.

Entitled "Early and Middle Pleistocene Vertebrates and Environments," the paper is part of a symposium on Pleistocene climates of Texas.

Schultz's paper is based on research he has done in Hartley County, Tule Canyon and north Ceta Canyon utilizing screen-washing techniques which allow him to separate the minute bones of small animals from silt and mud.

The Pleistocene epoch, which dates back possibly two million years, was the time of the last glacial encroachment on the contents.

"In my research in Hartley County there has been no indication of cool environment fauna, which means it must have been a pre-glacial time," Schultz said.

The fauna Schultz obtained from the Tule and north Ceta Canyons date back more than 600,000 years, and show the first evidence of cool conditions in the Texas Panhandle.

Change address

Residents who have moved or changed addresses since they registered to vote should come in person to the county tax office to change the data on voter registration lists, Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor, said this week.
She said they should come soon so they can be eligible to vote in the May 1 primary elections.

Fund raising dinner planned

By DORIS McKEE
WELL, HERE IT is almost the end of spring break week, and soon it will be back to the ole grind for all those school kids. I guess most everyone has had a very good week.

THE VOLUNTEER FIRE Department met Tuesday evening March 9th at 7:30 p.m. in the recreation building. It was decided that we skip this week's meeting.

Next meeting is set for Tuesday March 23rd in the recreation building. We will have a guest speaker from the Canyon Fire Department at this time. Meeting time will be 7:30 p.m., please make your plans to attend.

Other things discussed at the March 9th meeting included estimates on building supplies for the Fire house.

It was also discussed, the need for a better way to notify the park tenants of meetings and activities.

We discussed some fund raising projects. The first will be on Friday March 26th. It will be a Bean Supper and serving will begin at 5:30 p.m. to around 8:00 p.m. We will serve beans, cornbread, pickles and onions at $1.00 a plate for adults and $.50 for kids under 12. Drink and dessert will be extra.

Hope you will make plans and come eat with us. The proceeds will go toward the fire house.

THIS WEEK WE want to send congratulations to Rick and Mary Lopez on the birth of their first child. Amber Marie Lopez was born on Friday, March 5th at 11:45 p.m. She weighed in at 7 lbs. 10 1/2 oz. and was 21 inches long.

Diana Hoffman and myself went down the first part of last week to officially welcome her home.

WOULD LIKE TO wish Mary Lopez a belated Happy Birthday. Her birthday was March 6th.

It seems if Amber had of been 15 minutes later she would have been born on her mother's birthday.

WHILE WE'RE ON the subject of birthdays would like to say that Pat Reed was taken out to dinner on her birthday which was March 9th.

Pearl and Dale West treated Pat and Tex to the celebration.

CHERI AND BILL Earles had planned a trip to Dallas over last weekend, but as things sometimes happen, they were unable to make it.

Seems their young son, Justin, became ill and was placed in St. Anthony Hospital last Thursday where he remained until Sunday. He is much better now and is home.

I don't believe this was the Earles weekend anyway. Cheri had a little run in with their new car also. Don't give up—things are bound to get better.

BARNIE RINEHART CAME home from Palo Duro Hospital early last week. He seems to be doing fine now.

TALKED TO KATHY Burgan this week. Seems they are doing pretty good. Tina has still been sick with sinus and a sore throat. Ira has been off work for two weeks.

He took a vacation and has spent most of it getting to know his son, John.

Don't know which of them will miss the other the most when Ira goes back to work.

SEEMS JO AND Tom Fulkerson are what one might call pleased as punch. Their daughter, Jeri, and son in law, Ken Weber, formerly of Colorado Springs, Colo., have moved here to Siesta. Of course, it's not only Jeri and Ken, but now that new grand daughter, Jena, is very handy and grandma can have ever so much fun spoiling her.

FRIDAY NIGHT TOD had Timmy Weaver (a cousin) and Marty Hoffman spend the night. They went skating and had a big time.

On Saturday evening, Tod went home with Timmy, where he stayed until Sunday afternoon.

OUR DAUGHTER, DeANN, had Christy Hoffman spend Friday night. They stayed up until almost one o'clock.

JON AND DIANA Hoffman went to Lubbock Friday night and attended the Bill Gaither Trio Show there. They had a very enjoyable time and said the show was fantastic.

BOY SCOUTS DIDN'T meet Thursday night. In all probability they will meet tonight. Will try to learn what their upcoming activities are to be and let you know next week.

THE TREES ARE really budding out and the grass is greening up. The first thing we know it will be time to put the garden in. So guess we had better rest while we can, before the really busy season hits.

MUST PUT DOWN the ole pen for now but will be back next week. So Keep On Reading.

THOUGHT FOR THIS week. "Check your own home before you make note of others faults." See Ya.

WT grad plays role in space

The Space Shuttle Orbiter — a combination spacecraft-aircraft — which is destined to be a major step toward bringing reality and economic feasibility to "science fiction lore," is not only beyond the engineering blueprints but is nearing completion.

And James M. Hartman, a graduate of West Texas State University, has played a vital role in the final assembly of the 122-foot-long, double delta-winged spacecraft.

The Orbiter — named for the fact that it will be the cargo-carrying transport taking satellites, laboratories and scientists into orbits around the Earth — is the reusable spacecraft part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Space Shuttle Transportation System.

Hartman is assigned to the Palmdale final assembly facility of the Space Division of Rockwell International, which is located on U.S. Air Force Plant No. 42 in California's Antelope Valley. An aerospace veteran of 14 years, Hartman is employed in Production Operations and, as a group leader, is responsible for developing and maintaining a performance reporting system for the Space Shuttle program.

The first Orbiter — company-titled OV 101 — was designed and built for the NASA by Rockwell's Space Division. In final stages of assembly, the Orbiter is scheduled for a "traditional rollout" in mid-September, with functional checkout before and integrated systems checkout following rollout. Initial flight testing — including taxi and ferrying compatibility with a modified 747 and the Orbiter's approach and landing tests — is scheduled to begin early in 1977.

A native of Wellington, Tex., Hartman was graduated from Wellington High School in his hometown. He earned his BS degree from West Texas State University in Canyon in 1958.

Hartman is vice president and member of the board of directors of Equestrian Trails, Inc.; a vice president and member of the board of directors of Barn-Burners, a square dance club, and is a member of the board of finance of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, all of which are located in Camarillo, Calif.

Hartman resides with his wife, Sue, at 40908 32nd St., West Lancaster, Calif. They have two children, Derrick, 14, and Diann, 10. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Hartman, presently reside in Wellington, Tex., at 802 Graham St., and his brother, Clifton Hartman, resides at Route 5, Wellington, Tex.

The Space Shuttle's mission is to transport space-bound payloads into near-Earth orbit, to provide the capability of in-orbit maintenance on satellites or to retrieve satellites and return them to Earth. The Orbiter, which is the world's first reusable spacecraft, has the capability of carrying up to 65,000 pounds of satellites, laboratories, or other space payloads in its cargo bay, which measures 60 feet in length and 15 feet in diameter, through 100 missions.

After a return from space, the Orbiter will be available to launch the next multiple cargo of payloads following a two-week turnaround period — thus, significantly reducing the cost of space flight. A normal Shuttle orbital flight will be approximately seven days, but the Orbiter has the capability for extended missions of 30 days or more duration.

Rockwell International is a major multi-industry company applying advanced technology to a wide range of products in its aerospace, automotive, consumer, electronics, and industrial operations.

Miss Canyon pageant has 39 hopeful entries

Thirty-nine hopefuls have entered the Miss Canyon '76 beauty pageant to be staged at Canyon High School auditorium Saturday evening, April 10.

Arranged and sponsored by Canyon Study Club, each candidate will be representing a local business in the competition.

Entries have been closed for the pageant, according to Mrs. Jerry Becknell, CSC president. The contest is held annually and all high school girls are eligible to enter each year.

Miss Canyon 1976 will reign during the bicentennial summer celebration and will be eligible to represent Canyon in a number of area contests during the year.

The honoree will be crowned at the public pageant, April 10, beginning at 7:30 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door that evening. Contestants will be judged in an appropriate Sunday styled dress at the pageant and will also be judged during a pre-pageant coke party on personality and poise. All contestants will participate in two pre-pageant rehearsals also.

Co-chairmen for the Miss Canyon pageant this year are Sandra McRoberts and Andrea Metcalf. Contest judges and entertainers on the pageant program will be announced soon.

Casteel earns driving award

Bill Casteel, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, received a 20-year safe driving award this week from George T. Davis, Jr., Area Conservationist, SCS, Amarillo.

"This kind of outstanding safe driving record doesn't just happen," Davis said in presenting the award to Casteel. "It's the result of careful, defensive driving. You have set a day-to-day driving example that all of us should try to follow."

The award for the excellent safety record was approved by George C. Marks, SCS State Conservationist. The Soil Conservation Service is cooperating in the "ZERO IN on Federal Safety" program whereby federal agencies are placing emphasis on eliminating major causes of employee injuries.

The Canyon field office gives technical assistance on conservation matters through the local Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District.

News brief

Dr. George B. Asquith, West Texas State University associate professor of geology, delivered a speech recently before the West Texas Geological society in Midland.

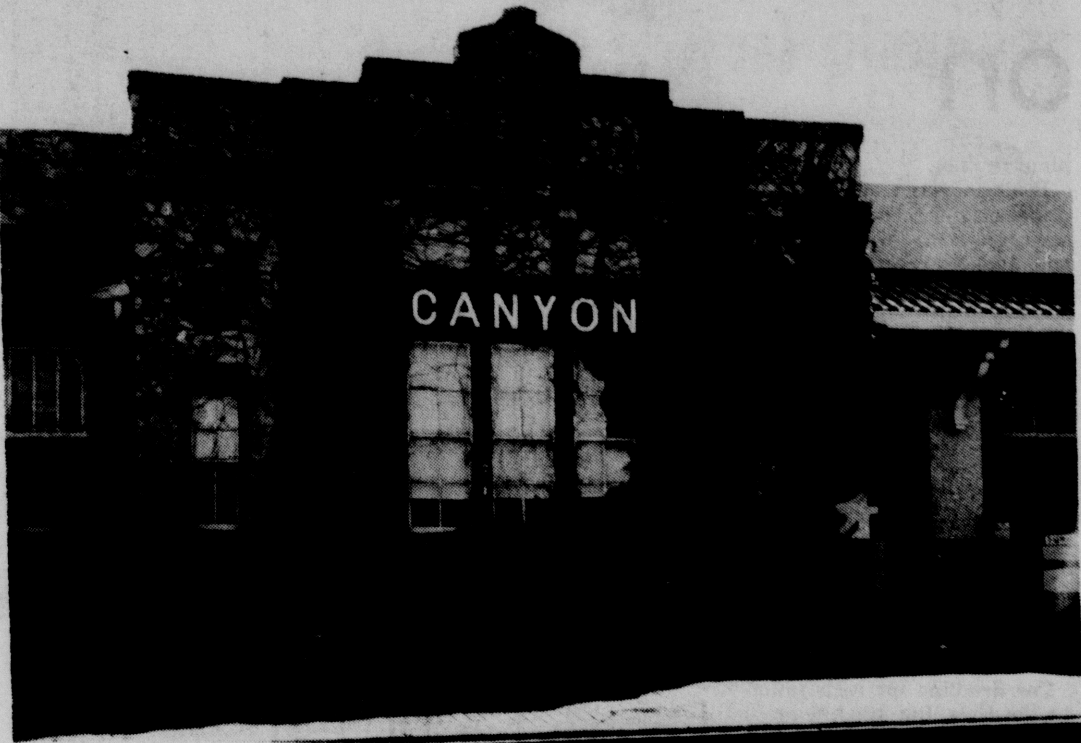

There have been dramatic changes in agriculture during the last 60 years... new machines, new crops, new methods. But the real production miracle is still the American farmer or rancher himself—one dedicated individual with a willingness to take chances with success or failure. We are proud that when a man of this caliber needs long-term credit, he looks to his Federal Land Bank Association.

American agriculture's real strength has always been the man and the land.

Passengers don't stop here anymore but old Santa Fe depot not deserted

With its Spanish design, the Santa Fe depot here was once considered one of the most beautiful and modern of passenger facilities, retired agent Keith Hines recalled recently in a Bicentennial column. The last passenger train ended service here about 1966 or '67, the present agent, Russell Guill, estimates.

A black-lettered sign on the door reads 'Waiting Room' but a smaller, handwritten cardboard sign advises 'Use the west door.' Students traveling to and from the university no longer crowd the high-ceilinged waiting room. In fact, the last passenger train stopped at the Santa Fe station in Canyon about ten years ago. The waiting room, now dusty, is used for storage. A single long brown wooden bench remains in the room, and the ticket window still stands, with the black iron grill intact and 'Tickets' neatly pointing the way for long-departed passengers.

But the old Santa Fe depot is far from being deserted. Somewhere between 35 and 54 freight trains pass through Canyon daily, estimates Russell Guill, the present Santa Fe agent.

From Canyon, grain is shipped and inbound carloads are received, primarily of lumber, potting soil, and paper. The depot also serves as a train order station to direct traffic on the two rails running south from Houston toward Lubbock and west toward Clovis, bound from Chicago to Los Angeles.

But Guill remembers the days as a passenger station. "When I first came here in 1941 as a student operator," he said, "on Friday afternoons and then again on Sunday the kids would all be going home from college or coming back. I've seen that waiting room full."

One passenger train, from Lubbock to Amarillo, stopped here then, Guill said. The station, built in the early 1900's, was open 24 hours a day then. Now, it closes at 3:30 each afternoon.

At one time, as many as 16 passenger trains served Canyon, according to Keith Hines, Santa Fe agent here until he retired in 1974. Hines recalls at times he sold as much as $2,000 in tickets in a day here.

The ticket drawers inside the agent's office are unused now—the compartments for change and tickets empty. At the other side of the office, the baggage window is closed.

But inside the agent's office, an intricate communications system combines modern technology with methods from the past.

A multi-layered computer links Canyon with the rest of the Santa Fe line, as does a microwave telephone system.

But, frequently, the telegraph key, essentially unchanged from the last century, chatters a message.

"The newer employees aren't required to know code," explained Guill. "But for me, I've been around it so long, it's just easier sometimes for me to use the wireless than to call in over the phone."

A taut, triangular string extended on a metal pole beside the tracks is also a modern signal apparatus, Guill said.

Train orders, which direct traffic along the tracks, are tied securely in a loop before the string is hoisted on the pole. An engineer, as he passes the Canyon station at 55 mph, extends his arm and catches the string and message, Guill explained.

Years ago, the train orders were extended on coiled bamboo loops, held up to the engine window as the trains chugged slowly through, he said. The next advancement was a Y-shaped rod, still held by the agent for the passing engineer. Guill has a bamboo loop among his collection of railroading mementos, which include also a complete set of dated nails from the cross-ties.

The railroad now uses only a small portion of the station, for storage, track supervision and freight operations. Most of the building is leased by Gibson's for storage.

Biology prof to be featured speaker at initiation

University of Oklahoma Biology Professor John Teague Self will be the featured speaker at the West Texas State University Beta Beta Beta Society's annual initiation banquet March 26 at 7:30 p.m. in Chef Luis Restaurant in Amarillo.

The honorary biology society will initiate 15 new members, who have at least 45 hours of University work and four courses in biology with a B grade average or better.

Self, a noted parasitologist, is the author of over 50 scientific publications. His research includes descriptions of new species of parasitic helminths; elucidation of life cycles; surveys of the helminth parasites of vertebrates; and the taxonomy, immunity, pathology, fine structure, and host-parasite relationship of helminths.

Professor Self has been associated with OU since 1932, when he entered the graduate program of the Department of Zoology. He worked up through the ranks to be chairman of the department from 1945 to 1956, and spent the summers of 1950 through 1966 as professor of parasitology and helminthology at the OU Biological Station. In 1967, the University of Oklahoma honored him with one of its highest awards, that of regents professor.

He has served as president for the Oklahoma Academy of Science, the National Conference of State Academies of Science, the American Microscopical Society and the Southwestern Association of Parasitologists.

Self has also served as director of the "Science and the Citizen" program for the state of Oklahoma and as a member of the Frontiers of Science Foundation.

Spring 1976 initiates from Canyon are Dean E. Lively, sophomore, liberal arts and dentistry major; Royce H. Martinez, junior, biology education major; Susan D. Mitchell, junior medical technician major; and Rebecca G. Richardson, senior, biology major, daughter of M.C. Richardson; and Susan H. Thornburg, junior nursing major.

Repair costs on dwellings census query

Questions on expenditures for the improvement and upkeep of residential properties will be asked in a sample of households in this area by Bureau of the Census interviewers during the period of April 1-15, 1976.

The home improvement survey, conducted four times a year, yields valuable information on this segment of the American economy which is of interest to many government agencies and private groups. The sample households in this area are among the approximately 5,200 throughout the United States that will be included.

Total expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties in the third quarter of 1975 were $7.6 billion, or $25.5 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. During 1974, the seasonally adjusted annual rate ranged from $19.7 billion to $21.9 billion.

The law requires that information reported to the Bureau of the Census must be held in strictest confidence. Published reports show totals only. No information identifying individuals or households is released.

Ag professors give talks

Two West Texas State University agriculture professors presented papers at their respective section meetings at the 73rd annual Southern Association of Agriculture Scientists recently in Mobile, Ala.

Dr. Ted Montgomery, associate professor of animal science, and Dr. Ron Thomason, professor of plant science, attended the meeting at the Sheraton Inn.

Dr. Montgomery spoke to the Southern Section of the American Society of Animal Scientists. His paper was entitled "Tenderness of Pre-Cooked Hot and Cold Processed Pork."

His paper discussed the different processing and cooking methods of pork and the effects on tenderness of the meat.

Dr. Thomason spoke to the agronomy division on "Protein Accumulation in Wheat Grain as Influenced by the Development and Leaf Blade Removal."

He discussed the amount of protein in stems and the process in which protein is accumulated in wheat grains.

Libyan items on display

A display case featuring artifacts from the Libyan Desert are on exhibit on the first floor of the West Texas State University Cornette Library.

The objects on display are part of a collection belonging to Dr. James R. Underwood, WTSU professor of geology. He acquired the artifacts on a series of expeditions into the Libyan Desert.

The expeditions, sponsored by Esso-Libya Co., were for the purpose of studying impact structures and to search for Libyan desert glass, Underwood said.

The natural glass is found only in an area of 100 by 40 kilometers near the Libyan border. This glass was first discovered in 1932.

The display in the library features a sample of the desert glass, silicified wood, iron-impregnated Nubian sandstone, ironstone concretions and Nubian sandstone. A cover of Time magazine was found in the desert that dates back ten years as well as the remains of an Egyptian military plane which had apparently been forced down from lack of fuel.

There are also books, pamphlets, and bulletins available in the library concerning the display on desert glass and the Libyan Desert.

Spring break hints of vacation

BY KAROLYN FARMER
THERE'S NO FOOL like an old fool; there's no news like good news; and there's no break like a Spring Break!

And after trying to entertain, drive the "taxi" for and feed three restless youngsters during this week of their vacation, that's about as philosophical as I can get.

Fortunately, we've got a large contingent of kids in our neighborhood who enjoy entertaining each other. However, I have a feeling that a few of our neighbors who don't have children of their own are not enjoying the sharp rise in local noise pollution.

There's a little nostalgia mixed in with the roar of motorcycles and mini-bikes, since the kids in our area have rediscovered some of our games from the "old days" like "Capture the Flag" and Monopoly.

Several of the boys have grown at least two feet in the last few days, now that walking on stilts is the "latest rage" on the scene.

Unaccustomed as I have become to all of this activity, it has inspired one "poetic" thought: With Spring Break almost over, can summer vacation be far behind?

IT'S GOING TO be especially difficult for me to write this week's column because my mind is literally several hundred miles away.

Right at this moment the newest member of our family, Leslie Ann Howe, is undergoing surgery in Houston to remove a cyst from the back of her head.

Leslie Ann is two months old today (the 16th), and is the daughter of my brother, Roger, and his wife, Helen Howe. The operation is a serious one, requiring an incision in the baby's skull, with no before-hand certainty as to the size of the cyst.

Please forgive me for getting so personal, but situations such as this certainly help me to put my own problems into their proper perspective, and to be even more thankful for our healthy children.

GIRL SCOUTS FROM the Gene Howe area participated last week in several activities to celebrate the 64th Birthday of Girl Scouting.

Troop 113, made up of fifth grade girls, visited the museum in Canyon on Thursday.

The third graders of Troop 237 put up a special Scouting display in the new Canyon library.

The second grade girls of Troop 103 enjoyed visiting with the residents of a local nursing home.

The girls of Troop 113 also displayed their braile American flags in the mall at Western Plaza on Saturday. They took part in the Girl Scout exhibition at the mall which was entitled, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

During the exhibition the Gene Howe girls worked on their troop project as they pieced together their Bi-centennial quilt.

Beginning next Tuesday, the third and fifth grade Scout Troops will be taking bowling lessons at Western Bowl in Amarillo. The series of free lessons will last for four weeks.

BILL HAMILTON HAS taken on the duties of coaching a Kids, Inc. track team for the third straight year. Bill already has a full roster of fifth grade boys signed up.

The maximum number allowed on a team is 17, and there are 16 fifth graders running for Gene Howe.

They are: Kirk Balke, Andy Bailey, Jason Bass, Gary Evans, Jim Grahke, David Hamilton, David Kuhlman, Michael Longhofer, Kevin Maxwell, Ernie Mendez, Michael Ray, Russell Schmidt, David Sessions, Bruce Slattery, Kevin Smith and Kevin Wright.

The boys practice at the Gene Howe field on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and will have their first track meet in three weeks.

SWEET ADELINES CHORUS of Amarillo hosted their Region 10 Competition in Amarillo last weekend. Close to 1,000 women from five states took part in the musical events, which included both quartet and chorus presentations.

Out of the twenty choruses that performed, the Amarillo Chapter was awarded third place. The groups from Oklahoma City and Dallas placed first and second, respectively.

Gene Howe area ladies who sing with the Amarillo Chapter of Sweet Adelines are Shirley Jones, Linda Robinson and Althea Thomas. Margaret Rawlings of Canyon and my mother, Dorine Howe, are also members of the local chorus.

The Sweet Adelines always welcome new members, so if you like to sing and are interested in joining, please call one of these ladies for details about the organization.

IN HONOR OF Johnny Hicks' 40th birthday, Johnny and Phyllis went to Las Vegas, Nevada last week for several days of "fantastic fun." The Hicks really lucked out on this trip, too — they left Las Vegas only 24 hours before the local musicians went on strike.

Among the many shows they saw, Phyllis said they especially enjoyed Wayne Newton and the Sadler and Young performances. Meanwhile back in the casino, Johnny and Phyllis watched as one man, flanked by his bodyguard, placed bets of $50,000. "Gene Howe Johnny" let Phyllis have a few dimes to put in one of the slot machines.

While their parents were away, Karol, Sheila and John enjoyed having Phyllis' cousin, Jan SoRelle stay with them.

According to Johnny, who obviously had a good time, it was, "Worth turning 40!"

SHEILA AND JOHN Hicks competed in the Golden Spread Invitational Swim Meet last weekend at the Amarillo Town Club. They are members of the Amarillo Aquatic Club swim team, which won the meet.

Swimming in the "A" Division, Sheila placed 2nd in the 200 breast event. In the "B" Division events, she placed 2nd in the 100 breast, 4th in the 200 back, 100 free and 50 free, 5th in the 200 individual medley and 200 free and 6th in the 100 fly and 100 back.

John swam in the "B" Division, placing 3rd in the 50 back, 4th in the 50 free and 200 free, 5th in the 100 free, 6th in the 200 individual medley and 8th in the 50 fly.

Both Sheila and John will take part in the Jr. Olympics later this month in Midland.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS at Gene Howe are looking forward to their upcoming birthday festivities. Even though their official birthday week is March 15-19, the local groups have postponed their celebration because of Spring Break.

Plans for next week include the daily raising and lowering of the school flag by the 5th and 4th grade groups. The 5th grade group will also make a display for the school library.

A display will be placed in the Gene Howe trophy case by the 4th and 1st graders. A cake will be baked for the teachers by the 2nd grade group and the 3rd grade girls are planning to bake a special cake for Mr. Lawless, Gene Howe principal.

Next Friday all of the Camp Fire Girls from Rex Reeves and Gene Howe will entertain their fathers at the annual Dad-Daughter Banquet in the Gene Howe Cafeteria.

Besides decorating the room and tables for the event, the girls will also perform skits to entertain their fathers.

Jackie Jobe is the leader of the 5th grade group, assisted by Donna Leyendecker. Ellen Hickerson, assisted by Katie Rinne, leads the 4th graders. Rosie Scroggins is the leader for the 3rd grade girls, and her assistant is Sharon Jones. The 2nd grade group is led by Joy Golden. Margie Morgan, assisted by Carolyn McMinn, is leader of the 1st grade group.

EVERYONE IS INVITED to a spaghetti supper at the Estacado Estates Clubhouse this Saturday, March 20, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m.

The supper is being sponsored by the parents of the community and the proceeds from the event will be used to buy playground equipment for the area adjoining the clubhouse.

Tickets may be bought at the door on Saturday or can be purchased beforehand by calling Mrs. T.C. (Joy) Nettirk at 355-4312.

Prices for the tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12.

THE NORTH PLAINS Association for Children With Learning Disabilities will hold its next meeting on Thursday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting, which will be at the First Christian Church in Amarillo, will feature a panel discussion on parents' feelings.

Moderator of the panel will be Margaret Harper, founder of the musical drama, "TEXAS". Included on the panel will be Louise Rapstein, Special Education teacher at Canyon High School, Candice Vann and Jackie McClenny, parents.

The panelists will answer questions prepared by the Board of North Plains ACLD concerning feelings which are normal reactions when you have a learning disabled child.

The monthly Mother's Rap Session will be on March 23 at 4406 Tawney Street in Amarillo, beginning at 10:00 a.m.

Mrs. Jim (Dot) Ford, Gene Howe School Counselor, was the special speaker at the February Rap Session. A summary of Dot's pointers and suggestions was written up in the latest edition of the North Plains ACLD Newsletter.

Also noted in the Newsletter is the fact that there are 400 LLD students in Canyon and 1200 in Amarillo. There are 142 members, from both Canyon and Amarillo, in the North Plains ACLD.

If your child is involved in the LLD programs of our schools, you are invited and urged to join this active and informative organization.

The North Plains ACLD is sponsoring a helping workshop for parents and teachers on April 3 from 9:15 to 12:00 noon. The workshop will be held in the Bonham Jr. High cafeteria.

Mr. Claude R. Zevely of West Texas State University's Special Education Department will be one of the speakers for the workshop.

CLAUDIA (MRS. ONEAL) Call, in association with AAA Greenhouse, has launched a new career. Claudia will still be carrying on her duties as librarian for Ridgecrest School in Amarillo during school days.

But in the evenings and on weekends, she'll be turning over a "new leaf". Pots 'N' Posies is the official name of Claudia's new venture of presenting home plant parties.

Beautiful plants at greenhouse prices, original ceramic pots and macrame items will be shown and available for sale. Games, prizes and information about plants will also be offered during the parties.

Besides private parties, Claudia will also be available to present programs to groups such as sororities, etc. Please call her at 355-9385 for more details.

THE 6TH GRADE girls track team has already held two very windy practice sessions and will compete in their first meet on April 1st.

Coaches for the team are Royal Yarbrough and Delbert Tension.

The deadline for registration for the Kids, Inc. track team is March 20, and they still need some more girls for the team. Please call Royal Yarbrough at 622-1545 if you know a 6th grade girl who would like to participate.

TRACK COACHES ARE needed for all grade levels at Gene Howe. If you would like to coach a team or assist someone else, please call Leonard Schmidt, Kids, Inc. Roundup Man, immediately.

We are fortunate to have one of the best track fields in the area. And the track program is especially good because it allows every child an opportunity to win some coveted ribbons.

LOTS OF PEOPLE in our area have taken advantage of the Spring Break to "get away from it all." If you were one of those lucky ones, please call me this week and fill me in on the details.

Mrs. Fred Wieck, right, was a runner-up in the recent Name the Scotsman contest sponsored by Thriftway Supermarkets. Benny Cooper, owner of Cooper's Thriftway in Canyon, hands Mrs. Wieck her prize for her contest entry. A Tucumcari, N.M., woman won the contest.

Earmark funds for parks use, says chairman

Contributions to the parks and recreation fund intended for a specific purpose should be designated on the deposit slip, fund treasurer Mrs. Virginia Cotton said this week.

The fund was established at both Canyon banks recently to allow persons to donate toward the development of city parks and recreation facilities.

"People can designate their contribution for tennis courts, or landscaping or playground equipment or just any parks use," Mrs. Cotton said. Separate books will be kept on the different uses.

Later, after a new master plan is drawn up, donations of labor and landscaping trees and shrubbery will be welcomed, she said.

Last week, parks and recreation board members kicked off the fund with contributions.
